

College of Health and
Human Services
Office of the Dean

Terre Haute, IN 47809
812-237-3683
Fax: 812-237-8895

November 3, 2015

To: Mike Licari, Ph.D.
Provost, Vice President for Academic Affairs

Fr: Jack Turman, Jr., Ph.D.
Dean of College of Health and Human Services

Re: College of Health and Human Services Student Success Plans

Enclosed are the most recent versions of the student success plans for departments within the College of Health and Human Services. Actions in these plans center around the following themes:

- Revising curriculum pathways
- Providing students with learning opportunities that augment classroom experiences
- Provide faculty with opportunities to advance teaching practices
- Increase the frequency of student engagement to assist their navigation of the college environment and processes

These actions, coupled with college-wide actions of: professional student advising service, college-centered student recruitment events, and the academic, social and professional development activities provided in our living-learning community are meant to address the diverse set of variables that impact student retention and completion.

The construction of our plans, both at the individual and college levels, are grounded in our responsibility to foster student success, honor professional accreditation standards, and ensure that we are graduating students that will practice evidenced-based health and social services that ensure public safety. Thank you for your consideration of our plans.