

Indiana State University
Community Engagement Activities
Department Annual Report
2007

Project Name:
Non-Profit Resource Center

Description

The project, funded by CPSCE as faculty fellowship, seeks to build a data base that links the needs of non-profit organizations in the Wabash Valley with student internships.

How do you see community engagement activities fitting in with your department in the future?

Our students actively seek internships and are linked to community engagement in their course work. Therefore, community engagement is a ongoing aspect of our curriculum and pedagogy.

What do you feel has been the impact of the project?

The impact is yet to be known, since the project is still in development.

Faculty involved with students in this project outside of class

This project has not yet yielded student involvement, given that it is still in the planning and development stage.

Who from the community is involved?

All of the identified non-profit organizations, including Jim Bertoli from the United Way.

Who from ISU is involved?

Dr. Debra Worley & Linda Edwards are providing the leadership for this endeavor. Diana Cooper-Bolinsky and Roy Boise from the Career Center have also been included in the conversations, as has Dr. Nancy Rogers from CPSCE.
