

Indiana State University
Community Engagement Activities
Department Annual Report
2005

Project Name:

Wabash Valley Highschool and Collegiate Athletic Training Services

Description

The ISU athletic training department has been provided athletic training services to various highschools and colleges in the Wabash Valley for the past 36 years. In this capacity, our undergraduate and graduate students interact with professionals and assist in providing healthcare to thousands of student athletes a year.

How do you see community engagement activities fitting in with your department in the future?

The very essence of what our department's educational mission centers around community engagement and experiential learning. We see it continuing to be a critical component of our educational programs.

What do you feel has been the impact of the project?

The greatest impact is that students in rural highschools and colleges are getting much more healthcare than they would ever have received.

Faculty involved with students in this project outside of class

Dr. Mitch Cordova
Dr. Tim Demchak
Dr. Cat Stemmans
Mrs. Renae Bomar
Ms. Lori Vancza

Who from the community is involved?

Athletic Directors, Highschool Principals, School Superintendents, certified athletic trainers employed in these various settings, and various team physicians who are associated with these schools.

Who from ISU is involved?

Undergraduate and graduate athletic training students from our programs. Also, our department chair, clinical education coordinator and program directors help facilitate this enriched learning environment.

Number of Students	Where it takes/took place	Is this activity ongoing
12-14 Annually	Wabash Valley	Yes