Below is your vision statement from previous years. Please take this opportunity to review it and if necessary update it.

The Department of Counseling aspires to be recognized for providing excellent, professional, graduate-level preparation in the areas of counseling psychology, counselor education, mental health counseling, and school counseling. Preparation in these areas responds to societal needs, reflects a commitment to excellence, involves collaboration with community agencies, and contributes to the quality of life in Indiana and other locales. Our graduates will effectively understand and apply human service principles in order to facilitate the development of human potential, well-being, and problem solving in a variety of individual, family, institutional, and community settings. They will assume positions as applied practitioners, trainers, leaders, and scholars who are prepared to use research, inquiry, and best practices to inform work in their respective disciplines.
